Go Avatars!

Last week, a well-known web avatar service has released its news about raising a big amount of $$ for widening its activity on the IM market.

All people who got to know me don't understand why the hell am I writing about this, since I work at Comverse, on the Klonies project which is other avatar Mobile and web service... The thing goes like this: the fact that big companies/investors believe in the avatars market and are willing to invest in it - is very good news for the entire world of avatars!

GO avatars!
